class OrderController extends Controller
    public function update(
        UpdateOrderRequest $request, Order $order
    ) {
        abort_if(!$order->status->canBeChanged(), 400);
    }
}
```

Or we can simply add a delegate method to the Order class:

```
class Order extends Model
{
    public function canBeChanged(): bool
    {
        return $this->status->canBeChanged();
    }
}

// Now we can use it like:
$order->canBeChanged();

// Instead of:
$order->status->canBeChanged();
```
