```
→  factories git:(main) tree -L 2 .
.
├── Automation
│   ├── AutomationFactory.php
│   └── AutomationStepFactory.php
├── Mail
│   ├── BroadcastFactory.php
│   ├── SentMailFactory.php
│   ├── SequenceFactory.php
│   ├── SequenceMailFactory.php
│   └── SequenceMailScheduleFactory.php
├── Shared
│   └── UserFactory.php
└── Subscriber
    ├── FormFactory.php
    ├── SubscriberFactory.php
    └── TagFactory.php

4 directories, 11 files
```

Why not put the factories inside the domain folder? Because they are not related to business logic:

- Factories are only used in tests and seeders, so the subscriber domain can do its job without the `SubscriberFactory`.
- I don't want yet another folder inside the `Domain\Subscriber`.

I think they should be left in the default `database/factories` directory for these reasons.